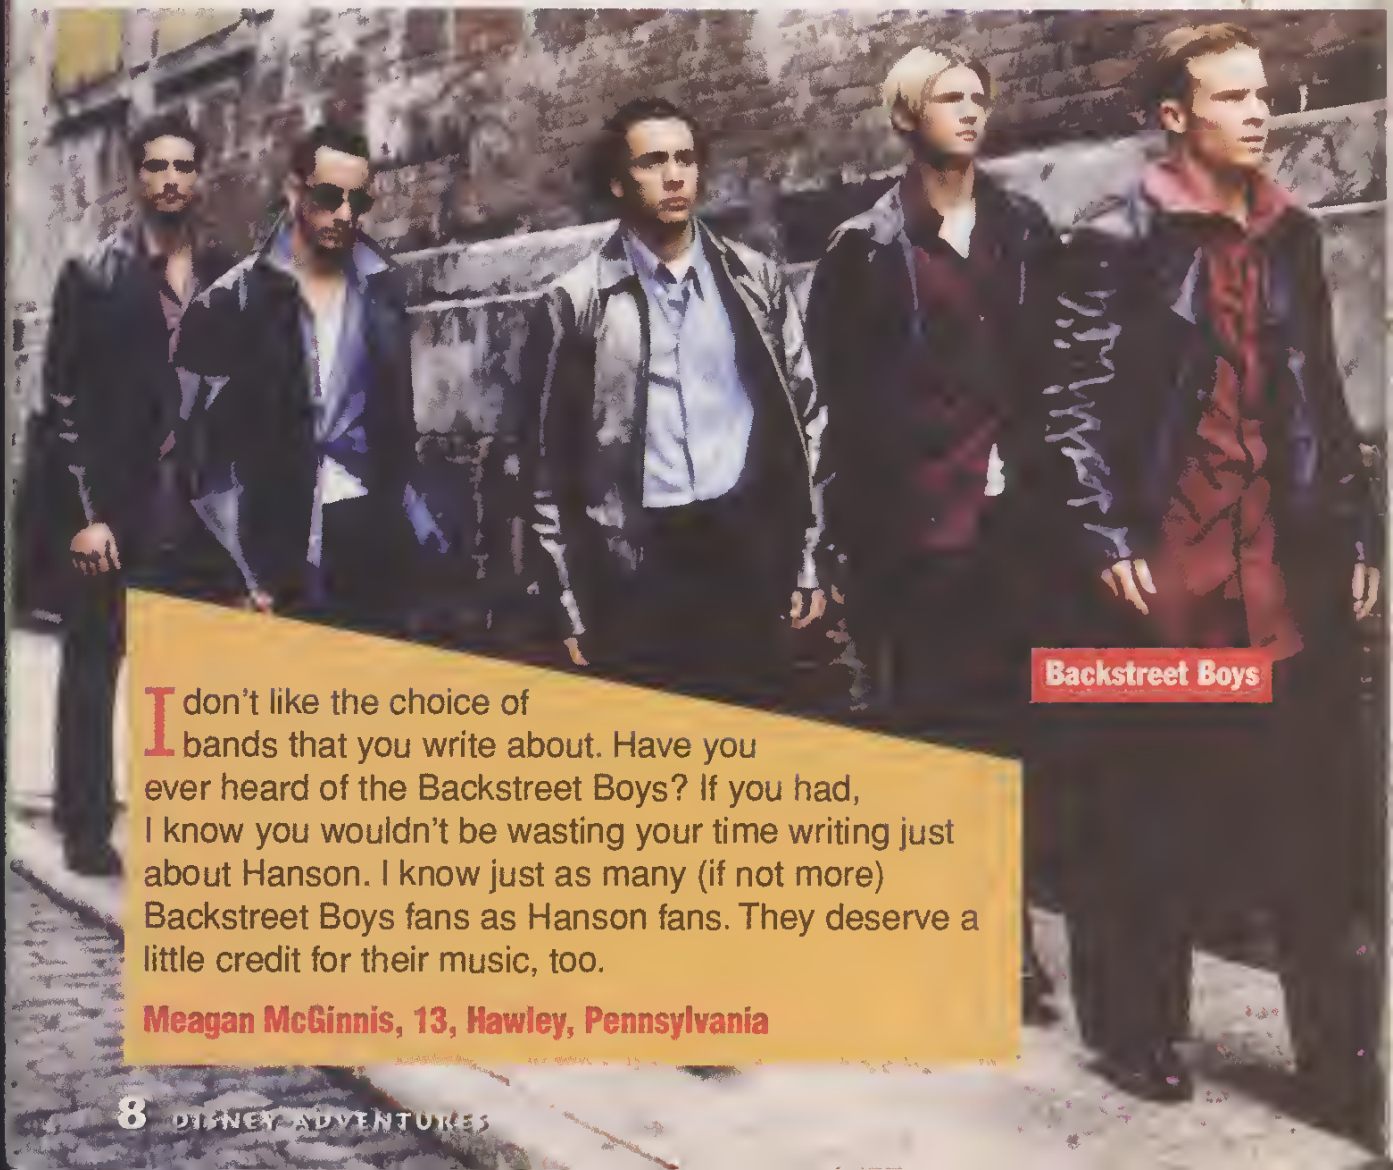
MMM-Mad About the Cover

We've received tons of letters from readers telling us what they thought about our Hanson cover story (February 1998).

Hanson

Thank you for putting Hanson in your February issue! I love them. No offense, but there will never be a next Hanson.

Katie Maximick, 14, Comox, British Columbia, Canada



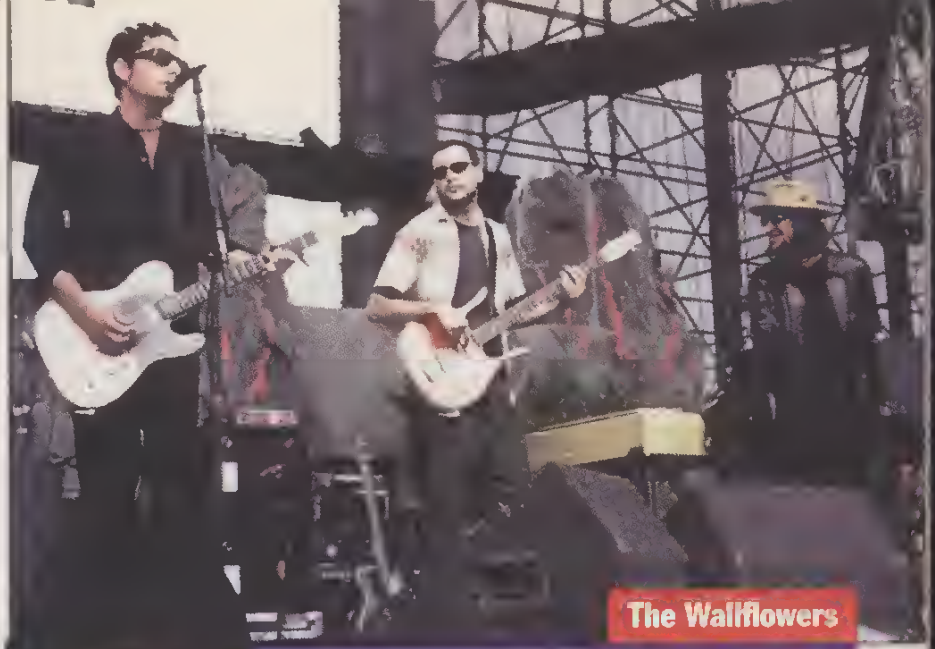
Backstreet Boys

I don't like the choice of bands that you write about. Have you ever heard of the Backstreet Boys? If you had, I know you wouldn't be wasting your time writing just about Hanson. I know just as many (if not more) Backstreet Boys fans as Hanson fans. They deserve a little credit for their music, too.

Meagan McGinnis, 13, Hawley, Pennsylvania

I really liked the interview you had with Hanson, my fave group in the world! I think they are incredible. It amazes me that they are so young and successful.

Jessica Estrem, 12
Apple Valley, Minnesota



The Wallflowers

Usher

Why are you guys obsessed with Hanson? They are boys who look like girls, and their music isn't all that great. What about Usher, Mase and the Wallflowers?

Jim Schu, 11, Rockledge, Pennsylvania

Editor's note: Great ideas, Meagan and Jim! We've got lots of great music stories coming up in future issues. (Check out page 40 for a story on some of today's hottest boy bands— Backstreet Boys, 98°, 911, No Authority—and see page 46 for an interview with Robyn.)

Oops! We Goofed

In the March issue, we accidentally started our calendar on a Monday instead of a Sunday.

WRITE TO US! We want to know what you think of this issue. Tell us what you've been doing lately, tell us a joke or write about this month's topic: Which celebrity would you like to see on the cover of D.A.?

Send letters, along with your name, birth date, address and telephone number, to: Mailbox/Disney Adventures, P.O. Box 881, New York, NY 10113-0861. Your letter must be sent with the signed release form on page 79 in order for us to consider it for publication. All materials sent become the property of Disney Adventures, and all rights thereto are transferred to Disney Adventures. They may be used without compensation or acknowledgment and cannot be returned.

Skin Art

Forget jewelry and hats. These days, the hottest accessories in Celebrity-ville are tattoos and mehndi (designs painted with semi-permanent dye that fade after about six weeks). Check out these stars with painted skin:

Mira Sorvino (Romy and Michele's High School Reunion) has her hands full with these mehndi designs.

Sporty Spice (also known as Mel C.) sports a cross tattoo at last year's Billboard Music Awards.

It's a bird! It's a plane! It's Shaq—flexing his super Superman tattoo!

Demi Moore (The Hunchback of Notre Dame) slapped this fake tat on her back for the opening of yet another Planet Hollywood restaurant.

Who's the guy hiding behind those mehndi-painted hands? It's The Artist (you know, Prince) at last year's VH1 Honors.

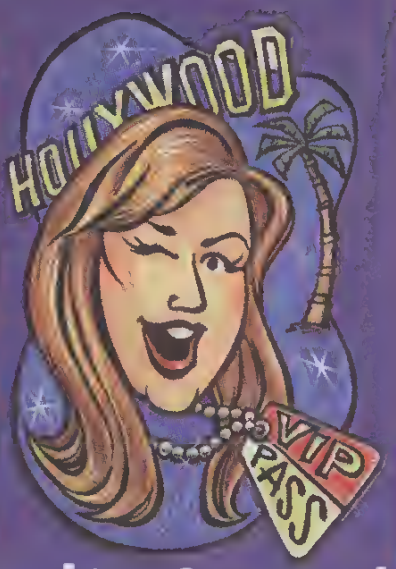
Ask Liz



Celebrity Central

I was in hawg heaven at the Blues Brothers 2000 premiere! Blues stars Dan Aykroyd and John Goodman made quite an entrance on their big ol' Harley-Davidson bikes. I hung with my new bud, J. Evan Bonifant, who plays Buster Blues in the movie. Sarah Michelle Gellar ("Buffy") praised Evan's performance, while Vanessa Lee Chester (The Lost World) boogied the night away on the dance floor...The Backstreet Boys' Nick Carter sings, dances and writes comics? Yup, Nick is writing a sci-fi adventure comic book about the Boys. No word yet on when it'll be out...Drummer wanted, but you must be named Matt! Smashing Pumpkins' drummer Matt Walker is leaving and Soundgarden's Matt Cameron may replace him. Walker is leaving to pound with his own band, Cupcakes.

And now I'll answer one of your questions.

Dear Liz,
When is Leonardo DiCaprio's birthday and how many movies has he starred in?

Kristina Ketcherside, 10
Sacramento, California

Dear Angela,
Leonardo was born on November 11, 1974. He plays Louis XIV and his imprisoned twin in his new movie, The Man in the Iron Mask, in theaters now. His other movies include: Titanic, Marvin's Room, William Shakespeare's Romeo & Juliet, The Basketball Diaries, The Quick and the Dead, Total Eclipse, This Boy's Life, What's Eating Gilbert Grape, Poison Ivy and Critters 3. You can also see Leo on "Growing Pains" reruns. Write to Leo c/o Addis-Weschler & Associates, 955 South Carrillo Drive, Suite 300, Los Angeles, CA 90048.

The Scoop on Salem

Regular cats spend their days eating, sleeping and playing. But Salem, the feline on "Sabrina, the Teenage Witch," talks, winks and even blows kisses, thanks to creator Jim Boulden of Animal Makers, Inc. He built the mechanical cats who bring talkin' Salem to life.

Cat Creations To create the purr-fect mechanical Salem, Jim and his team first photographed and sculpted Elvis, one of the four real cats that portray Salem. They made a skeleton from that sculpture, then covered it with fake skin and fur and added custom-made eyes. The skeleton holds radio-controlled servos that make the model blink, smile and move its mouth.

Makin' Moves Four puppeteers use radio controls to move Salem's face, head, neck and body in more than 30 different ways. Sometimes a puppeteer even hides under Sabrina's bed to control Salem's body. As for the voice, an actor reads Salem's lines from behind the camera!

What's new in the world of Disney

Walt Disney World

Toon Time!

Animation fans are flippin' over the launch of Toon Disney, a new cable channel hitting airwaves April 18. Featuring tons of toons (more than 2,200 episodes) from the Disney library, Toon Disney's schedule includes faves like "Darkwing Duck" and "The Little Mermaid" 24 hours a day!

Buggin'

Can't wait for summer? Then check out "Bug Juice" on the Disney Channel. Real kids at Camp Waziyatah in Waterford, Maine, were filmed for this new show, which is kinda like MTV's "The Real World" goes to summer camp. You'll experience all the fun, minus the smelly socks and mosquito bites. (We're sure you're really bummed 'bout that—not!)

Classic Tunes

Disney's Archive Collection just hit stores with recently rediscovered music from Disney classics like Mary Poppins. Music lovers can hum along to faves from films and Disneyland rides, plus original tunes from Disney stars like Hayley Mills (who played the twins in The Parent Trap).

Disney's brand-new theme park explores the wild world of animals.

By Craig Warner

Roaring. Soaring. Exploring. And never boring! It's Animal Kingdom!

Walt Disney World's newest theme park, opening April 22, celebrates animals ranging from dinos to rhinos. You can safari through Africa, where you'll spot real animals like lions, giraffes and zebras running wild. Then, as you cruise Discovery River, be sure to watch out for the fire-breathing dragon. And when you stop at Conservation Station, you'll learn how you can help save endangered animals.

We went behind the scenes to check out our favorite spots. Ready to explore? Keep reading!

Dino

DinoLand U.S.A. boasts the fast and fun thrill ride Countdown to Extinction.

What better way to enter DinoLand U.S.A. than by walking under a 50-foot-tall Brachiosaurus skeleton called Olden Gate Bridge? In this area of the park, you can visit a dinosaur dig site, unearth a dino skeleton and crawl through fascinating fossils. Next, explore the Cretaceous Trail, to see live survivors from the dino age like soft-shelled turtles and Chinese alligators.

Just when you think this prehistoric place can't get any cooler, you board an exciting, high-speed adventure ride. Countdown to Extinction takes you back 65 million years on a quest to save the endangered dino from a deadly asteroid. Ride designer Paul Torrigino describes the dinos you'll see as you twist, turn and tilt through the Cretaceous Period.

Name: Carnotaurus

Eating Habits:
Carnivore (meat-eater)

Claim to Fame: Its big, bad head boasted two horns, similar to a bull's horns (no wonder its name means "meat bull").

Most Likely to:
Tear other animals in half with its powerful jaw and sharp teeth.

Weird Science:
"These dinos have tiny forearms, and the paleontologists are still debating how these were used," says Paul.

Ride Role:
Carnotaurus, the baddest of the bad guys, bullies the ride's passengers (the designers gave him a reddish color to make him scarier). This deadly dino chases its unwelcome visitors through a prehistoric forest, destroying whatever crosses its path. Let's just hope it's not the passengers!

Name: Raptor

Eating Habits: Carnivore

Claim to Fame: The "killer claw," a 5- to 7-inch claw on each foot, helped the raptor rip into the body of its enemies. Ooouch!!

Most Likely to: Win the "best weapons" award for its extra-sharp teeth, strong hands and Freddy Krueger-like claws.

Weird Science: Paleontologists found a hinge behind the raptor's eyes that they think kept this beast's brain in place when it bit down hard on something.

Ride Role: Passengers experience a close call with the raptor. "The raptor spots the passengers and wants to attack them," Paul says, "but the ride vehicle short circuits and scares the dino away."

Animal Kingdom's towering tree soars to life.

You can see it from miles away, yet when you walk through the entrance to Animal Kingdom, it's nowhere to be found. As you walk further into the park, you continue your search, wondering if it even exists. Then, as you turn the corner into Safari Village, you see it—a tree, 14 stories high!

It's the Tree of Life, a 145-foot-tall fake tree smack dab in the middle of Animal Kingdom. This amazing piece of art has 325 carvings of animals sculpted into its roots, trunk and branches.

A movie theater is tucked inside the tree's tremendous trunk. It's currently showing It's Tough to Be a Bug, a 3-D film about the creepy, crawly, slimy, squishy world of insects.

Deep Impact star Leelee Sobieski proves a deadly comet is no contest for a shooting star.

By Craig Warner

The comet causes a freeway frenzy.

We interrupt this article to bring you a special report. The president has just announced that a comet is on a deadly collision course with earth!

Don't worry, this isn't a real emergency—it's the plot of the new movie, Deep Impact, starring Elijah Wood and newcomer Leelee Sobieski. We crashed the set of this frantic flick to find Leelee, who plays 14-year-old Sarah Hotchner, making an impact of her own.

Did you always want to be an actress?

"I never wanted to be an actress. I wanted to be a writer and illustrator of children's stories and a painter."

What was the hardest thing you had to do in this movie?

"Probably the scene on the bus going to the shelter. The government has prepared an underground shelter for a few million select people. Leo (Elijah Wood) can go to the shelter because he discovered the comet. If I marry him, I can go, too. But I decide to stay with my parents, even though I want to be with Leo."

So what's it like to work with Elijah?

"Elijah's really smart, nice and handsome so I really enjoyed working with him. Also, he drives a motorcycle for the movie and he drives it very well, considering he got his license during this movie."

Leelee (Sarah) with co-star Elijah Wood (Leo)

Sarah is up in arms trying to get Leo's attention.

Have you gotten any cool gifts while making this movie?
"Paramount sent me a telescope so I could look at the stars like my character did. Mimi Leder, the director, sent me a globe and said, 'The world is in your hands.'"

So if you had to name a comet, what would you name it?
"I'd name it Leelee!"

Robyn

Teen singer Robyn knows the Swedish smell of success.

By Michelle Ernst

Robyn wrote her first song at age 11 and signed a record deal at 14. At 18 she released her debut album, Robyn Is Here. Now, hits like "Show Me Love" and "Do Your Really Want Me (Show Respect)" can be heard on radios around the world. Stardom has made Robyn super busy, but she called us from Dallas, Texas, to chat.

©Clay McBride

On songwriting:

"I'm not the best singer in the world. That takes a lot of practice. But being both a singer and a songwriter makes you an artist, and that's what I am. I'll always write songs."

On fame:

"I think the coolest thing is that I write songs and a big part of the world is listening to what I have to say."

On staying focused:

"I don't listen to music when I'm working, because it can interfere with what I'm doing. I only listen to music when I'm at home."

On staying sane on the road:

"I haven't stayed in one place for more than a week. I stay sane by keeping in touch with my family. I call, e-mail and fax them every day."

Fast TRACK

D.A. checks out Indy's awesome cars!

The high-octane cars in the Indianapolis 500 (on May 24) run laser fast and look space-age cool. Here are three of the hottest wheels and their drivers:

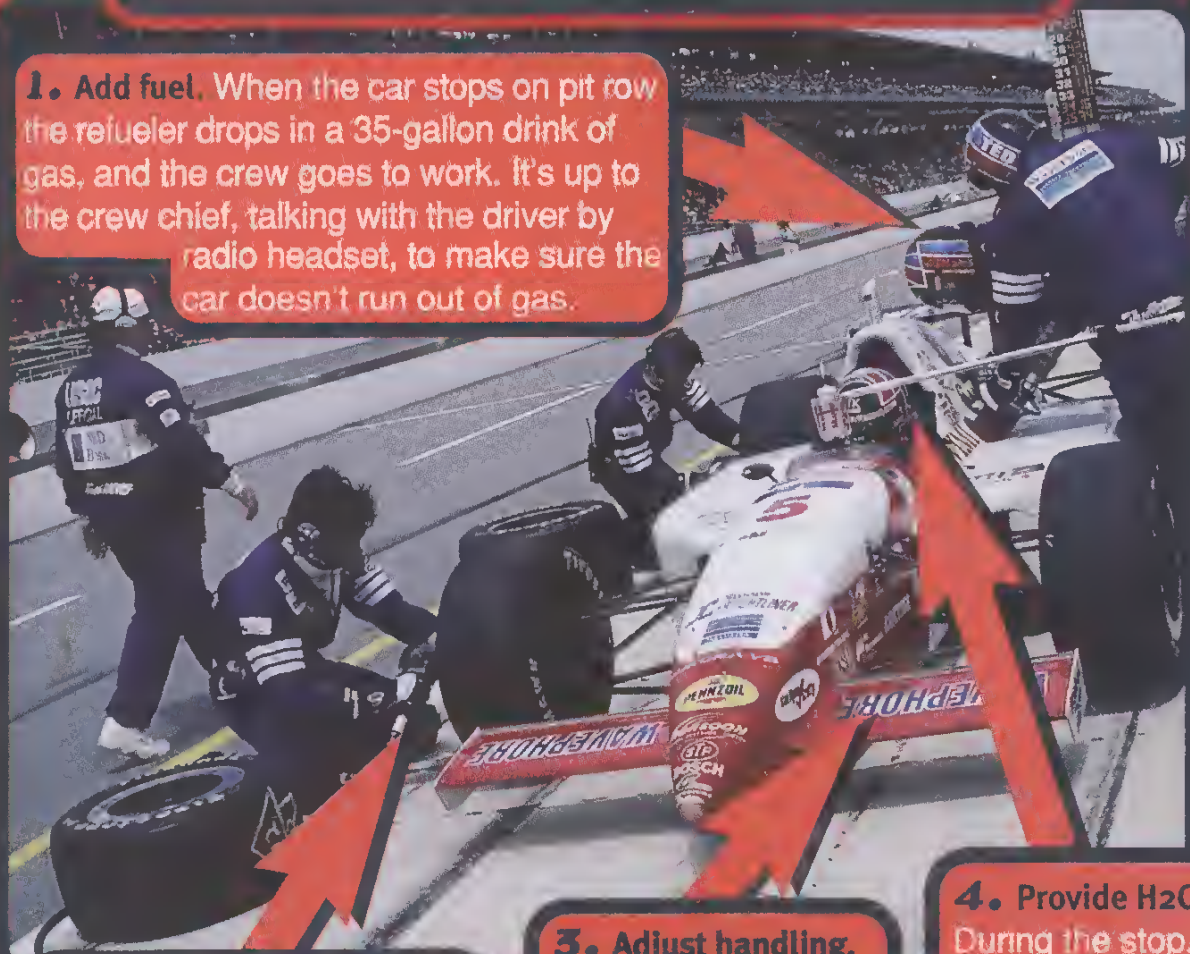
1 Tony Stewart. The Jeff Gordon of Indy-style cars, this 27-year-old was the best driver on the Indy Racing League circuit in 1997.

2 Buddy Lazier. After trading in his Motocross motorcycle for the keys to this purple hot rod, Lazier won the 1996 Indy.

3 Buzz Calkins. Indy's young gun gets his rubber-burner up to 229 mph. His smarts behind the wheel have helped him finish higher every year he's raced.

It's the PITS

Sure, Indy-style drivers whiz around the famed Brickyard track at 200 miles per hour. But what can really decide who takes the checkered flag is which car has the speediest pit crew. Here's what a six-member Indy pit crew must complete in 10 to 20 seconds:



1. Add fuel. When the car stops on pit row the refueler drops in a 35-gallon drink of gas, and the crew goes to work. It's up to the crew chief, talking with the driver by radio headset, to make sure the car doesn't run out of gas.

2. Change tires. The four tire changers quickly replace worn tires with new ones. The right rear tire changer goes first, jumping the wall as the air vent/air jack man raises the car four inches off the ground.

3. Adjust handling. To keep it running as fast as possible, the Indy-style car has an adjustable wing low in front that's sometimes changed to make it more aerodynamic.

4. Provide H2O. During the stop, the crew also gives the driver a bottle of water that he must throw out as he drives away.

Sure, the best games are often the toughest ones to beat. But sometimes we'd give our right arrow key for one little tip. By surfing the Web, you can learn how to earn higher game scores, conquer your opponents or just take in the game sites.

As you surf, be on the lookout for FAQ—Frequently Asked Questions (and answers!)—files. Written mostly by fellow gamers, FAQs often provide step-by-step directions for beating some of the most popular games.

Freaky Flyers

Ready for some freakish fun? Then check out these Flight Force 3-D flying discs. The foam spinners come in 10 collectible designs. They fly, spin and crash-land like other discs—but look a lot cooler doing it! (Our fave? The sharp shark head!)

To add to your high-flyin' fun, try these throwing tips from the flying disc Freestyle Players Association:

- To throw your disc upside down, get a grip on it, then tilt it slightly upward during your release.
- Throwin' curves is a snap! Aim the disc in the direction you want it to curve when you toss it.
- Skip shots are easier to make on hard surfaces. To make your disc skip, bounce the far edge of the disc off the ground between you and your partner.
